

TAUNTON RIVER WATERSHED ALLIANCE
A VOICE FOR THE RIVER SINCE 1988

Biodiversity Day

The Taunton River Watershed consists of forty three towns. Businesses, housing, cities and towns coexist with its rivers, streams, ponds, marshes and woodlands. Its occupants are affected by ongoing development and outside forces such as climate change. It is part of TRWA's mission to watch over it all of it. It's a job no single group can do and no amount of money is enough. We can each contribute though. Each donation to TRWA is like a message in a bottle. The headwaters of the Taunton River in Bridgewater flow through cities and towns to the sea so your donation can reach an ocean.

Biodiversity Day at Sweets Knoll State Park in Dighton is a day to celebrate our diversity and learn about it too. The park has ponds, trails, meadows, woodlands and a kayak launch on the bank of Taunton River. It's also the home of TRWA's offices and education center, it is beautiful year-round.

On Biodiversity Day plants and animals are observed, counted and photographed. Bristol Aggie students, guardians of our future water resources, are there to guide people through the park. These students help to identify plants, trees, frogs, birds, salamanders, small fish, crayfish, and a fiddler crab. The students also bring turtles, snakes and other live animals.
